OCS Can Help You...

- Test your interests
- Find a nonprofit, for-profit, study abroad, or research summer experience
- Learn more about funding opportunities through OCS and other Harvard sources
- Connect to alumni and employers
- Talk to advisers who can help you design your summer and post-grad plans

Diverse Internship and Job Offerings

We work with employers in many diverse fields and can help you learn more about and apply for opportunities in TV, film, international development, education, nonprofits, engineering, tech, journalism, life sciences, finance, marketing, consulting, medicine, and more.

Drop-Ins Monday-Friday 1-4 p.m.

Drop-in advising for quick questions and resumes reviews will be offered M-F from 1-4pm (Eastern Time) in Fall 2021. Please check the OCS website for instructions to access drop-in advising. Get information about:

- Putting together resumes and cover letters
- Getting tips for summer plans
- Applying for summer funding
- Identifying other helpful/relevant resources at Harvard

If 1-4 p.m. doesn't work, email the front desk at ocsrecep@fas.harvard.edu to arrange a different time between 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. for a drop-in.

Don't Know What You're Interested in Yet?

Our team loves brainstorming ideas with you. Check out the Career Pathways pages on the OCS website for more ideas, resources, tips, and advice on a variety of areas. Consider participating in our one-day hands-on workshop “Designing Your Career” – see the OCS calendar for program dates.

Designing Your Harvard? – Talk with an Adviser

It is hard to figure out all the things you could be doing at Harvard and sometimes it can feel like you are missing out because there are so many options. Once you have attended an initial drop-in, your Crimson Careers account will be activated to make a one-on-one appointment to have a longer planning conversation with one of our advisers. To schedule a meeting, visit the OCS website, click the Advising tab, navigate to Harvard College Advising, and scroll to the “Talk to an Adviser” section.

Resume and Cover Letters

Early on at Harvard, you may find yourself applying for a number of different opportunities, whether campus jobs or summer funding and experiences. Generally, these opportunities require you to put together a resume and write a cover letter or personal statement. OCS can help you to craft strong documents, and if you Google “OCS Harvard resumes” you will find lots of help and examples on our website. Follow the OCS template to prepare a “Harvard-style” resume and then bring in your draft to drop-ins for a review. Once your resume is in good shape you will be ready to apply for all opportunities that you learn about. OCS also offers workshops and an online tutorial on writing resumes and cover letters.

Apply for Summer Funding

Students often begin to plan for summer in November or December. OCS funds over 500 students each summer to pursue international internships, study abroad, or international or domestic public service opportunities. We can also help direct you to the dozens of other funding sources at Harvard to increase your chances of landing summer funding. Don't miss the December Summer Funding and Programs Fair. Want personalized help? Come to a summer funding program or make an appointment to meet with our Summer Funding Team.

Career Fairs, Employers, and Workshops

OCS conducts 300 programs and hosts over 20 career fairs annually. These events are designed to be an easy way for you to meet alumni and industry professionals and learn about different opportunities. Everyone from first-year students to seniors attend these events to explore their interests by talking to people about what they do, how they got their start, and what advice they may have for you if you are interested in pursuing similar work.

OCS Recruiting

OCS Recruiting (formerly called the Campus Interview Program) streamlines the networking, application and first-round interview process for over 100 employers, primarily in finance, consulting, tech, and business. These employers often recruit on an earlier timeline, usually late summer and early fall. Most employers seek to hire students for internships over junior summer and for full-time employment post-graduation. Some organizations, however, also offer pathway and diversity programs for first-year students and sophomores. Landing these types of positions takes careful preparation and planning, so be sure to begin to work early with OCS advisers and pre-professional student groups if this pathway interests you.

Crimson Careers

Crimson Careers is the OCS online database where organizations interested in hiring Harvard students and graduates post thousands of internships and jobs. You will find a link to it on the OCS website. OCS works with over 3,000 employers who post over 9,000 opportunities annually. The OCS Front Desk Team can also work with you individually to help you set up an advanced search to focus your search results and have relevant postings emailed to you. Also check out UCAN, a college consortium internship posting site that offers greater geographic diversity of positions.

Interview Preparation

Preparing for interviews requires knowledge about the organization and position, and articulating the skills and experiences you can contribute. There are lots of ways OCS can help you get ready. Check out the Interviewing section of our website and/or come to a workshop.

Pre-Med and Health Careers

Our OCS Premed team has expert knowledge about medical school and careers in the health fields. If you are interested in medicine, plan to attend their programs, drop-ins, and appointments and check out the comprehensive Pre-Health resources on the OCS website.

Graduate and Professional School Advising

OCS Advisers are ready to help students who are considering graduate or professional school in the future. Whether you are considering law school, business school, a master's degree or a PhD program, OCS can help. For more information and resources see the Graduate School section of the OCS website.

January Experiences and Site Visits

Have you ever wondered what it is like to work on a film set, in a research lab, or at Google? During Harvard's January Winterbreak, OCS offers a wide variety of short-term immersion activities that allow students to explore companies, talk to alumni, work on small projects, and go behind the scenes for a close-up look at many organizations. These experiences offer you the opportunity to test your interests in a real work setting. Refer to the January @OCS section of our website for additional information.

Build Your Professional Network

OCS brings alumni to campus to participate in many programs, including our Professional-in-Residence program which allows you to connect one-on-one or in small groups with alumni professionals from a variety of industries. We host workshops on networking, which can teach you how to connect with some of the 370,000+ Harvard alumni who can help you land great opportunities now and in the future.
